

Course Vision

A new tool to help you develop a more relevant curriculum aligned to the skills that employers really need.

Further Education providers are being pressured by Government, Ofsted and employers to develop curricula that are better aligned to the skills needs of employers, and which are geared to producing better employment outcomes for learners. How can your organisation rise to the challenge?

Introducing Course Vision

Course Vision is a new online tool that we have introduced to help you achieve this. Combining granular Labour Market Insight for your region with an easy-to-use interface, the tool will help you as you seek to produce a curriculum that benefits both learners and employers alike. The tool, which has been developed after consultation with a number of principals and curriculum planners in the FE sector, contains the following reports:

Curriculum Overview Report: Allows you to upload completions data, then compares it against regional job openings to show areas of oversupply, undersupply and the potential for new courses.

Course Area Snapshot: Enables you to drill into a particular course area to find out more insight on the occupations and industries in your region that are connected to it.

Business Case Report: Provides you with a deep dive of the skills needs of employers in your area, enabling you to build a strong business case for developing new courses or changing existing ones.

Using Course Vision will give you:

- Evidence for Ofsted that your curriculum is well aligned with local occupations.
- Assurance that you are fulfilling your mission and using public funds effectively.
- Confidence that your curriculum is closing the skills gap and improving employability.

Book a free consultation where we'll demonstrate the tool by contacting us using the details overleaf.

The Challenge of Developing a More Relevant Curriculum

Creating a curriculum that better reflects the needs of employers and leads to better employment outcomes for your learners is essential to your mission. Yet achieving this is no easy task.

Our aim is to give you the insight and the tools you need to shape a really relevant curriculum, one that benefits your learners, meets the needs of employers, and helps you fulfil your mission.

Let's Talk

We'd love to hear about the issues you are grappling with when it comes to trying to improve your curriculum. Contact us and we will:

Listen

We'll listen to the challenges you face in trying to produce a curriculum that is better aligned to employer demand.

Discuss

We'll talk to you about how our Course Vision solution can help you build a business case for a more relevant curriculum.

Deliver

We'll work with you to implement Course Vision, supporting you as you use it to produce courses areas that align more closely to employer demand.

Contact us now

Karla Archibald, BDM for Further Education, Emsi UK

✉ karla.archibald@economicmodelling.co.uk

☎ 07841 521 971

🌐 www.economicmodelling.co.uk